

Since 2002 Valoga has been using a new computerized charring method

Since 2002 Valoga has been using a new computerized charring method, still over the traditional fire of an oak log . This patent system produces higher toasting levels while maintaining and preserving a specific flavour, and , what is more, guarantees for the strict succession of toasting from one barrel to another.